SERVES

OUR STANDARD SERVES 50ML/25ML

All our Japanese whiskies are served neat or on ice.

If you would like yours to be served on ice, please ask your server.

MIZUWARI

Japanese favourite: the whisky is mixed with chilled still water.

This serve suits more delicate malted whisky.

HIGHBALL

The most popular serve for whiskies in Japan. The whisky is stirred with crystal clear ice in a highball, before being topped up with chilled soda water. The carbonation is bringing the whisky to life. This is a perfect serve for a smoky or peaty whisky like Hakushu.

SHINSHU MARS DISTILLERY

The Hombo family, founder of Mars, began producing shochu in 1909, expanding their portfolio over the years to eventually include their most popular product, whisky. They obtained their whisky license in 1949 with the help of their advisor, Mr. Kiichiro Iwai, an icon in the rise of Japanese whisky.

Currently, Mars has two distilleries and an additional aging site. Mars Shinshu, the main distillery, is tucked away at 2,625 ft in the Nagano Alps, making it Japan's highest whisky distillery. Nagano's heavy snowfall and temperate climate provide an abundance of soft and delicate glacier water for use in this dynamic range of both blended and single malt expressions.

NIKKA WHISKY DISTILLERY

Nikka operates two Coffey stills (named after its inventor, Aeneas Coffey) within the Miyagikyo distillery for the elaboration of its grain whiskies. Imported from Scotland in 1963, these old stills yield a distillate with more flavour and depth than modern column stills, imparting a distinct character that defines the house blends.

HIBIKI BLENDED

Hibiki was brought to life by the artisanship of blenders at the House of Suntory Whisky. To become a blender at Suntory, one needs to be able to communicate with whiskies that cannot speak. The words of founder Sinjiro Torii live in all Suntory blenders' minds. The Art of Blending is a continuous collaboration of blenders of the past and the future.
